

Casting Call - Many Good Men by Civic Digits

Many Good Men is Civic Digits' second major project, produced in association with Stellar Quines and supported with input from partners including Encompass, White Ribbon and Education Scotland, this socially engaged project is aimed at young men, working with them to unpack how performances of gender reinforce dominant patriarchal power structures.

Many Good Men is built around the story of two men who come together to fight gender injustice. It is a comedy of male manners which uses new technologies and forum theatre techniques to explore incel culture and the radicalisation of toxic masculinity.

Are are looking for four actors for an initial period of creative R&D to be held in Edinburgh in July 2022. At least two of these roles will be given to actors of colour.

- 2 male or non-binary identifying actors - playing age of over 35
- 2 female or non-binary identifying actors - any playing age

We are looking for actors who are interest in devised performance and improvisation, politically engaged work and subverting gender and power structures

Experience of forum theatre is preferable but not essential.

Further details:

When: Development week: 04-08 July 2022, 09.00-17.00
Sharing with invited stakeholders on 08 July 2022

Where: CodeBase, Castle Terrace, Edinburgh EH1 2EL

Fee: £650 weekly rate + travel expenses

Expressions of interest (headshot, show reel and/or spotlight profile) should be submitted to contacts@cividdigits.com by 27 May 2022.